$1,400 in One Pot Won by Two Small Pairs as Ship Reached Quarantine.

Filled With Returning

Americans.

With her cabins filled with returning Americans, the big Cunarder Mauretania reached her pler early this morning. She had made the trip from Liverpool in 4 days, 17 hours and 22 minutes and brought 374 first cabin passengers. 397 second cabin and 533 third class.

81 degrees and steam was rising from the surface.

There were reports of card games among the passengers for high stakes.

won by two small pairs.

Among the first cabin passengers was Col. Robert M. Thompson, cutton operator, who had visited London to aligned the ceremonies at the unveiling of the Penn Monument. Col. Thompson, which is president of the Pennsylvania Society of New York, was accompanied by the secretary, Barr Farree, and they represented the society at the unveiling ceremonies.

The trailers, and, dodging out again, he bumped into a chauffeur. There were words, and the Deputy Police Commissioner got very angry. Before he could find a policeman the chauffeur had jumped on his taxi and driven off. Mr. McKay thought he went around the Times Building and ran to Seventh avenue to head him off. He saw another taxi that looked just like the one other taxi that looked just like the one other taxi that looked just like the one of the bumping chauffeur had driven away in. But it was not the same and the said his return at this time was not because of the cotton situation, but to meet Admiral Togo when the latter arrives on the Lusitania next week.

Col. Thompson predicted a shortage in the world's supply of cotton next Company, Coast Artillery, U. S. A., stayear. He added that the South was in Mrs. Thompson and her grandchildren were on the Colonel's yacht, Catania, at Quarantine when the Mauretania arrived. They waved a greeting to him. SITUATION SERIOUS IN THE gash. BALKAN STATES.

J. Ridgely Carter, American Minister to the Balkan States, and Mrs. Carter Philadelphian Finds were passengers on the Mauretania. The diplomat and his wife have re-turned for a six weeks' vacation and to see their two sons, who are attending a summer school here. Mr. Carter started immediately for Washington to report to the State Department.

He said that the new Turkish Government is popular. The situation in the Balkan States he described as The Albanians, he said, second to think themselves worse off

Sale of Shetland Veils at 98c

The Kind that Sell for $2.25 Usually—Just why these fine Shetland Veils are priced so low is easily told. The manufacturer rejected them from his first quality veils because of slight weave faults. They failed to reach his standard. Look them over and the chances are you will not even detect the imperfections so minute are they. Best of all, they will not affect the wear in the least. Now, we're going to divide our good fortune with you. Veils are in white and colors, and values go up to $2.25. To-morrow, Saturday, your choice, each, 98c.
